Board Looks At Decline In Voke School Registration

By Lisa Waterman

Supt. Louis Gleason of the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational High School, River Road, appeared before the School Committee during Tuesday evening's meeting to discuss the dramatic decline of Andover students enrolling in the school's freshman class..

"We would like to know what we are doing wrong that is turning Andover student away from us." Gleason asked the committee.

Current enrollment in this year's freshman class is nine students from Andover. The total school enrollment is 1,400 students as of this fall. The facilities at the vocational school have the capacity to hold 2,000 students, according to Gleason.

"We have to make the people of Andover aware that there are two high schools in Andover with two different types of outlooks on education.

Lack of funding has stopped the Summer School program and Vocational Entry program that once existed in the school. Both programs exposed Andover Junior High School students to vocational education.

"The kids region-wide do not know what the industrial world is all about. There aren't many tradesmen living in Andover anymore. They don't know that being an electrician is not a deadend job." Gleason said.

There are 500 jobs waiting for this year's graduating class of 300, according to Gleason.

"The kids don't know what a machinist or welder does and have no knowledge of what their earning capacity is," Gleason told the committee. "It all comes down eventually to the paycheck. When a student considering our school enters my office, we're both not shy about talking about potential earning dollars."

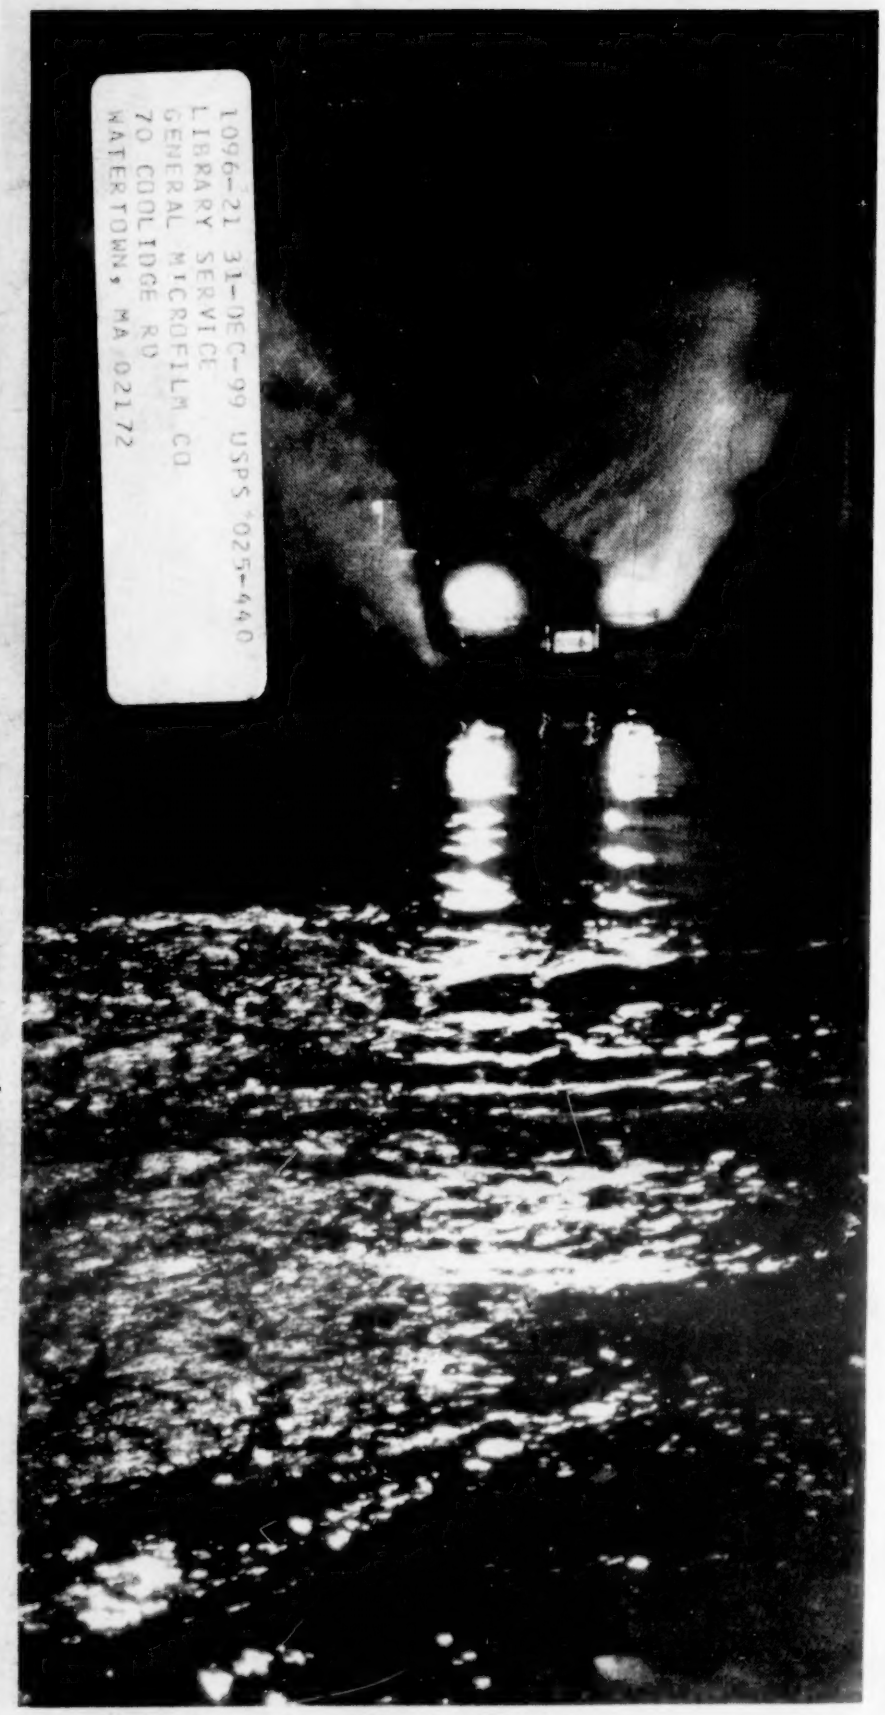

A week of work program to educate Andover's Junior High Students about the world of work, was suggested by Chairman of the School Committee Donald W. Robb.

The School Committee suggested that

Flash Flood

An old-fashioned Nor'easter Tuesday, dumped several inches of rain on the area and caused some minor flooding in various sections of town. Here, in front of Shawsheen Plaza on North Main Street, a motorist maneuvers his 'ark' through the watery accumulation.

Monthly Glass Drive To Be Sat., Nov. 16

Andover's monthly drive for clear and green glass will be held Saturday, Nov. 6, in the old town hall parking lot on Bartlet Street between Barnard and Park. Andover Recycling, Inc. volunteers will be available from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. to assist recyclers.

The large metal rolloff glass container will be partitioned to separate clear from green glass. Glass should be separated by color as it is being collected at home to make its disposal into the proper side of the bin easier on recycling day. Only clear and green glass bottles and jars should be recycled. Other glass items, such as windows, have unwanted ingredients or attachments that make them unsuitable for reprocessing.

Andover disposes of about 10,000 tons of solid waste every year and recycles more tha 1,000 tons of glass and paper combined. Every citizen can take an active part in reducing what is thrown away and increasing what is recycled.

Ceramics Students Win Prizes

In 1794, the use of powder on men's hair went out of fashion after being worn for over 100 years.

Five students of local ceramics teacher, Virginia Orlando, won ribbons at the 28th annual New England Ceramic Show in Woburn's Northshore Trade Center, held October 11-13. Each of the more than 500 entries had to be sponsored by a New England Ceramic League member and was judged by the strict rules set down by the N.E.C.L.

Jennifer Guerin, daughter of Richard and Bonnie Guerin of Andover, won her blue ribbon first prize in the children's fifth to eighth grade class. Her "soft sculpted" penguin was entered in the Stains-Free Brush Category.

Judy Galvin, 22 York St., Andover, won a red ribbon (second prize) for her rendition of a "Christmas Goose Box" in the Amateur-Glazed category. Galvin and Guerin were winners of the Best of Show and second prize, respectively, in the Melrose Northshore Ceramic Show in April.

Cecile McCarthy, Marion Avenue, Andover, won a red ribbon for her antiqued "Hen in Basket Casserole" in the Senior Citizen's Glaze division.

Two students from the Andover senior center ceramic classes, taught by Orlando, were recipients of first-prize ribbons.

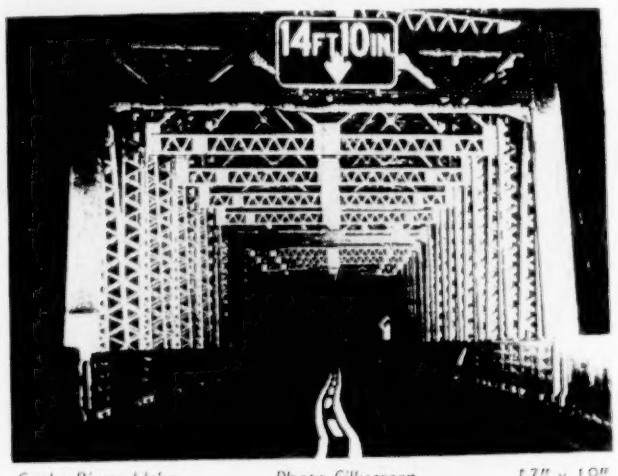

Janet Lendall, Lauret Street, Peabody, won a blue ribbon for her sponge technique on a handsome glazed "Boxer Dog" in the Senior Citizen category.

A special award blue ribbon was won by Mary Alice Mueller for her combination wood-stain glazed duck ashtray. She is in the day care program at the senior center.

Honorees Mrs. Stuart Symington and Philip K. Allen (right) with Hurricane Island Outward Bound School President Peter O. Willauer.

Allen Honored By School

The Hurricane Island Outward Bound School honored Mrs. Stuart Symington of New Cannan, Conn., and Camden, Maine, and Philip K. Allen of Andover at a gala dinner-dance at the Copley Plaza Hotel on October 23. They were presented with awards given annually to individuals who embody the philosophy of Outward Bound: "to serve, to strive and not to yield" and through whose loyalty and support the Hurricane Island Outward Bound School has been enriched and energized.

Mrs. Symington, wife of former Missouri Senator Stuart Symington, became a trustee of the school in 1967, three years after its founding, and served as a board member until 1976 when she resigned to become a member of the corporation, a post she has held for the last nine years. She and her late husband, Arthur K. "Dick" Watson, former U.S Ambassador to France and chairman of the IBM World Trade Corporation, helped establish the school's endowment fund. The award was presented to Mrs Symington by Susan W. Whitman of Marblehead, who chaired the event with Ann W. Bresnahan of Hope, Maine.

Allen served as a long-time trustee of the school and is a member of the corporation. His award was presented by Peter O. Willauer, president of the school, who said, "I wish I had a hundred more like them! Honoring Nancy Symington and Phil Allen is a special pleasure. They have helped lead the school during its first 20 years and, as parents of students, understand the value of an Outward Bound experience. Today, one of Nancy's daughters and Phil's son serve as trustees."

A leader in wilderness-based experiential eucation, the Hurricane Island Outward bound School, headquartered in Rockland, Maine, offers courses to men, women and children ranging in age from 14-72 from diverse backgrounds. For information about courses and scholarships, call or write P.O. Box 429, Rockland, Maine 04841.

Biscuits

"Biscuit" comes from the Latin root words meaning "twice cooked." The original biscuits were baked a second time to make them long-lasting for sailors, soldiers and travelers—perfect for that long voyage to the New World.

Blanchard House Tour Opens

By Virginia Lopez Begg

The Andover Historical Society invites the public to the grand opening of its new tour of the Amos Blanchard House, 97 Main St., on Thursday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Dr. Bettye Pruitt, consultant in historical interpretation, will begin the evening by briefly setting the scene. She will highlight the political, economic and social aspects of life in the early 19th century when Amos Blanchard built his imposing white house on what was then the old Essex Turnpike.

Following the short lecture, small groups of visitors will tour five areas of the house, headquarters of the Andover Historical Society since 1929.

Traditionally, tours of historic houses have focused on objects such as antique furniture. While the furniture and other antiques are still in place, the new tour tries to bring alive the way of life of the people who actually lived in the house in the 1820s and 1830s.

Deacon Amos Blanchard was a man of great substance in the community. The tour reflects some of his activities in two areas.

The Family Parlor invites visitors to imagine Blanchard in a heated political discussion with several real-life Andover neighbors in November 1828. The men are disucssing the upcoming presidential election between John Quincy Adams and Andrew Jackson. The tour seeks to bring the Age of Jackson and the founding of the Democratic Party off the pages of history books and into the parlors of old Andover.

Upstairs the Bedchamber and Reading Closet offer a glimpse of Amos Blanchard's life in commerce as well as what buisness was like in Andover in 1835.

Elizabeth Jenkins Blanchard, Amos' wife, is depicted in the Best Parlor as leading a meeting of the religious Female Charitable Society. The time is August 1831 and the women are enthusiastically discussing the words of a visiting preacher, Charles Finney, As they talk, they labor over their sewing to raise money fro the missions

Mrs. Blanchard's position, however, did not release her from the ardous daily chores of the pre-industrial housewife. In spite of her piety, perhaps she felt a tiny twinge of envy on hearing of her neighbor's new stove. She herself, and succeeding residents of the house, continued to cook at the fireplace for many years to come.

The kitchen tour pictures Elizabeth Blanchard and her helper, Ann Wood, working at their chores in the fall of 1830.

The final room on the tour is the Boarders Bedchamber. Visitors will learn about the lives of the young through the real-life activities of Amos' son and two boarders from Phillips Academy. Twentieth-century children may consider themselves fortunate when they hear what was expected of an earlier generation of Andover children.

The Andover Historical Society's new tour has been over a year in the making. Intensive research with primary sources was conducted under the direction of Dr. Pruitt, consultants Ann LeVeque and Ned Cooke and director/curator Marsha Rooney.

Members who devoted many hours in researching the new tour include Susan Harris, chairman, Marilyn Burns, Ila Cox, Margaret Cronin, Nicia Gruener, Bernice Haggerty, Karen Herman, Nancy Larsen, Gratia Mahony, Margaret Roberts and Pat Snedeker.

Ballardvale Cleanup

Over a dozen people, who simply care about their community, got together last week and over the weekend to maintain and improve the picturesque scene of Ballardvale Village. Working as a group or as an individual, people from the Ballardvale Village Improvement Society took time to paint, rake, cut and plant. This is the second year the organized group conducted the cleanup. Photos clockwise fom upper left: Richard Bowen of Bannister Road adds a fresh coat of paint to a sign that was covered with graffiti; Jan Henderson, Andover Street, cleans up along the side of the road; Ed Morrissey of Andover Street, cuts down the weeds by the tracks; Bruce Taylor of Marland Street adds a fresh load of wood chips.

Doherty Junior High Happenings

By Adam Galvin

The Doherty Junior High School Student Council has their November calendar filled wituh activities. The ninth grade is running a magazine drive to earn funds for their graduation activities. The goal is $2,000 and already the class has shown strong involvement.

Last Tuesday the council sponsored the annual Roll-On-America Night. A good time was enjoyed by the many students who attended. A pep rally for all school sports is being held Friday. The cheerleaders have spent a lot of time organizing this event and it should be a great success. The annual canned food drive will begin next week. Chaired by Adam Galvin and Adam Clark, this is one of the school's biggest programs. The ninth grade annual Powder Puff football game will be played at the end of November, pitting ninth grade girls against each other and being cheered on by male cheerleaders. This has always been a fun time.

On the athletic fields, many Doherty teams are finishing their season this week. The girls' soccer team continued its undefeated season beating North Andover 1-0 and West 3-0. Erin Lynch scored the only goal on an assist from Laura Hebeisen to capture the well-deserved win gainst North Andover. Kelly Hajj, Amy Swenson and Julie Salazor played well defensively.

The girls pulled out an incredible victory over West. The girls were the underdogs, but despite this disadvantage, were able to come away with more than just another win. Jodi Jangro put the girls on top first when she unleashed a booming corner kick that evaded the goalies' grasp and found its way into the goal. Soon after, Lynch put in the second goal. Finally, Dainia Gamma scored the last goal, ending the game at 3-0.

The awesome offensive attack of the North Andover team was too powerful for Doherty's boys' soccer team. The scoring went back and forth. Mat MacVicker, Mark Angelos and Peter Canam were goal scorers. Unfortunately, North Andover came on top handing Doherty their first upset of the season.

When Doherty took the field for their next game, they were greeted by a sore West team eager to make them pay for what they had done to them two weeks ago. West struck like a hurricane. By the end of the first half, Doherty was down 3-0. Doherty got on the board in the beginning of the second half when Adam Galvin slammed in a shot from 15 feet out. Two goals quickly followed by Angelos and A.J. Boutin and that was all the scoring for either team. Much of the credit for this tie goes to Mark Ziady for some incredible game-winning saves.

Women, Negotiations & Divorce

Most property and custody settlements are reached through negotiations rather than litigation. Negotiations can be difficult when a marriage has broken down and feelings have been hurt. You may fear that you will be overpowered in this process by both your husband and your attorney and be coerced into accepting a settlement which does not meet your needs. The advice of an attorney both knowledgeable in family law and sensitive to your fears and wishes can help you assert your rights and negotiate a fair settlement.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Some of the successful first teething toys are rubber beads or plastic discs or keys on a rust-proof metal chain with which babies can rub their gums and later their teeth. There are small rubber rings and plastic tube rings with enclosed water and tiny, colorful floating objects that are perfect for grasping, sucking, and chewing. Many rubber toys with safely embedded squeakers are on the market. Some however, may frighten an infant if he is not properly introduced to the sound effects. Sorely needed are sucking and chewing baby toys that have a cause-and-effect relationship built into them.

Celebrating Children's Book Week

"Good Times, Good Books" is the theme for Children's Book Week this year, an annual observance of the vital and enjoyable part that books play in children's lives.

A "good time" may be had this Saturday, Nov. 9, at 10:30 a.m. at the Children's Room when Kathy Caple, creator of "The Biggest Nose,' a book for children, will give a short talk and answer questions about her work. Her book. just published by Houghton, Mifflin, tells the story of a little elephant named Eleanor who is sensitive about being different but finds an ingenious solution to her problems.

Caple, who illustrated and wrote this tale, graduated from the University of Washington, but now lives and works in Cambridge. Children and interested adults are invited to the Children's Room for this special program. Commemorative Children's Book Week bookmarks will be available.

Buell Named To Committee

Senate Ways and Means member Senator Robert C. Buell (R-Boxford) and Senate Minority Leader John Parker (R-Taunton) hold list of more than 35 bills they and others have filed since 1977 to repeal a 7.5 percent surcharge on the state income tax instituted by the Dukakis Adminstration in 1975.

Senator Robert C. Buell (R-Boxford) has been appointed to the Conference Committee on legislation to repeal the state surtax.

In commenting on his appointment to the Conference Commiteee, Senator Buell said, "As one who for several years filed bills to do away with this onerous "double tax" on income, I am pleased to participate in the ironing out of the differences between the House and Senate versions of the surtax repeal legislation." The Senator added, " As much as I would like to see an immediate full repeal of the tax, pragmatically it would be easier for the state to absorb the resulting $250 million loss in revenue on a piecemeal basis." He also noted that the conference committee, which was appointed in mid-October, has yet to meet, and that he is anxious to get on with their task.

As evidence of his long-term commitment of surtax repeal, Buell cited a list of more than 35 bills he and others have filed since 1977 to eliminate the 7.5 percent surcharge on income taxes instituted by the Dukakis Administration in 1975. "It has been a long battle — we have had 20 roll calls on the issue down through the years — but our persistence finally paid off," said the Senator.

Insulate

It's time to shut off outside faucets and drain the lines. Now is the time to insulate pipes in the home if there have been problems in the past with frozen water pipes.

Freezing will not occur if a pipe is well-inslated and water is allowed to flow continuously. However, insulation does not stop the loss of heat, it merely reduces the rate of loss and the water may freeze if it stands in a pipe, even if it is well-insulated.

If the water lines in the home become frozen, use an electric heating cable, hot water soaked cloth or blow warm air on the affected area.

Under no circumstances should an open flame be used to thaw the pipe because of the obvious danger of fire to the wooden areas adjacent to the water lines.

Low temperature alone will not freeze water. It is a matter of how low, for how long, which causes frozen pipe woes.

About half the population of America over the age of three wears glasses.

Captain Hook, played by Dennis Lorne, and Snee (Ron Wackowski) discuss their evil plans for Peter Pan du ring a rehearsal for the ACT production.

"Peter Pan" Is Almost Ready

Costumes have been fitted, seats have been painted, lines have been memorized, songs and dances have been learned and everyone is waiting anxiously for the flying equipment to be installed. There's only one more week until the first performance of the Andover Community Theater's fall production of "Peter Pan."

The musical, based on James M. Barrie's play, is to be presented at Memorial Hall, Doherty Junior High School, Andover, November 15, 16 and 22 at 7:30 p.m. and 17 and 23 at 3 p.m. Both adults and children are in the cast.

Peter Pan will be performed by Mary Ellen Marino of Methuen, a teacher at St. Augustines School in Andover. Her previous theater experience includes performing in A.C.T.'s production of "Chicago" and in "West Side Story," "The King and I" and "Hello, Dolly." She choreographed two musicals for St. Augustines School.

Dennis Lorne of South Lawrence, a familiar face to Andover-area theater-goers, is portraying Captain Hook. He has appeared as Brick in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," Sergeant Trotter in "Mousetrap," Riff in "West Side Story," Perchik in "Fiddler on the Roof" and Vince Fontaine in "Grease," for which he was also the choreographer.

Julie Mason, a student at West Junior High School, Andover, is performing Wendy. She has appeared as Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz," Chicken Soup in "Really Rosie" and in the chorus of "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown," "No No a Million Times No," "The Boyfriend" and "The Knight Before Glasses."

Christopher Shea of Andover is appearing as John. He has appeared in "The Wizard of Oz" and "Cinderella" for A.C.T. and as Charlie Brown in the West Elementary School's production of "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown."

Cliff Bleszinski of North Andover will portray Michael. Although this is his first major performance for A.C.T., he has appeared in a number of school productions in the North Andover school system.

The remaining 44 actors bring together their enormous experience as actors, singers and dancers in this extravaganza, which is being directed by Josie Walker and produced by John Zipeto, with assistance by Sharon Hill and Doris Mason.

Flying equipment and coordination will be supplied by "Flying by Foy" of Las Vegas, Nevada. This company was in charge of flying

Moliere Play Opens Season

The Merrimack Repertory Theatre will open its seventh season November 15 with Moliere's "The School for Wives" in an English version by Richard Wilbur. With its mad misdoings of cuckolds and coquettes, "The School for Wives" is a classic that has kept its comedy. The Merrimack production will be true to the style of Moliere's own troupe, with elaborate costumes, scenery and physical comedy.

Joe Ponazecki, who plays Arnolphe, is a veteran of more than 25 Broadway productions. The first of these to reach New York was John Gielgud's production of "Much Ado About Nothing." Ponazecki was featured in the original company of "Fiddler on the Roof" with Zero Mostel and in the Broadway revivals of "Harvey" with James Stewart and Helen Hayes, "The Country Girl" with Jason Robards and Maureen Stapiton and Lillian Hellman's "The Little Foxes."

Marissa Chibas, who made her Broadway debut as Nora in Neil Simon's "Brighton Beach Memoirs," will play Agens, Arnolphe's ward. Chibas recently appeared in the title role in "The Diary of Anne Frank" at Indiana Repertory Theatre and will soon be seen in the CBS mini-series "Switch."

Kenneth Marks will play Horace, Agnes' love interest. He recently appeared in "MacBeth" at the North Shore Music Theatre and was seen in another Moliere classic, "Tartuffe," at the Yale Repertory Theatre, which starred Austin Pendleton.

Arnolphe's friend, Chrysalde, will be played by Roger Curtis who has performed locally with Theatre by the Sea, the Charles Playhouse, American Repertory Theatre and Gloucester Stage. Film credits include "The Bostonians" and "Concealed Enemies."

The servants, Georgette and Alain, will be played by M. Lynda Robinson and Gary-Thomas Keating. Robinson was last seen at MRT in "Two for the Sesaw" with Michael Young. Her feature film "Screamplay" recently had a successful screening at the Munich Film Festival. Keating appeared in MRT's inaugural production of "The Passion of Dracula" as Lord Godalming. Most recently he completed a long run as Huckleebee in "The Fantasticks" at Boston's Charles Playhouse.

David Rothauser, as Horace's father, Oronte, completes the cast. He made his film debut in Darryl Zanuck's "The Longest Day." Most recently he appeared in the Gloucester Stage production of "Henry Lumper."

"The School for Wives" will be directed by MRT's producing director Daniel L. Schay. He has directed George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" and Lorrane Hansberry's "A Raisin in the Sun."

The set has been designed by Leslie Taylor, who designed last season's sets for "Stage Struck" and "Strange Show." Costumes are being designed by Barbara Forbes, who designed the costumes for "Arms and the Man"

Philharmonic To Open Season

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic will open its 25th Anniversary Season on Sunday, Nov. 10, at 3 p.m. with the Beethoven Ninth Symphony at the Collins Center for the Performing Arts, Shawsheen Road, Andover. George Monseur, music director of the Philharmonic, will conduct.

The Ninth Symphony, which uses Frederick Schiller's "Ode to Joy" in the last movement, is one of the monumental achievements of western man. In this work, which requires a very large orchestra, a large chorus and four soloists, Beethoven sums up his feelings of humanity: all men are brothers, all men are equal. Noted scholar Joseph Kripps senses a struggle of life and death in the first two movements while in the third movement Beethoven approaches his end — death knocks on the door with the Trumpets and the composer answers with a resounding "no" in the violins. The final movement is Beethoven's view of heaven and its joy. Finding the orchestral forces not adequate to convey this feeling, he used the instrument which God created, the human voice to convey his meaning.

Soloists will be: Elisheva Vitale, soprano, has sung with the Israel National Opera in Tel Aviv, performing Mimi in "La Boheme," Violetta in Verdi's "La Traviata" and others. She made her debut as Donna Anna in the Boston Summer Opera production of Mozart's "Don Diovanni;" Jacqueline Marx, mezzo soprano, who is a graduate student at the Boston Conservatory major-

She has appeared as Baba in Menotti's "The Medium," Dame Quickly in Verdi's "Falstaff," Signor Deluso in "Cosi fan Tutti," and many other opera and choral works; Walter Boyce, tenor, who is well known in the Boston area, first as a baritone and now as a tenor. He is a veteran of five seasons with the Boston Opera. He performed the role of Loge in Wagner's "Der Ring des Niebelungen" in the Boston Lyric Opera's concert version; Robert Honeysucker, baritone, recently first place winner of the National Opera Association Artist's Award. He has performed many times with the Opera Company of Boston, St. Paul Opera, Connecticut Opera and the Ebony Opera as well as many well known choral groups and symphonies.

The chorus will be The Masterworks Chorale, Allen Lannom, director. This is one of the finest choruses in the Boston area and performs regularly at Sanders Theater in Cambridge.

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic is made up of Merrimack Valley area musicians whom Boston Music Critic John Brenner has called "...the finest of community/civic orchestras."

The chorus will sing at the State House Christmas tree lighting ceremonies at the request of Governor Dukakis.

Avoiding Burnout Is Topic

Diane Isenbeerg, co-director of Lifeskills, will be the guest speaker at the November program meeting of the Greater Lawrence Chapter of the National Organization for Women on Wednesday, Nov. 13, at 7:30 p.m at the North Parish Unitarian-Universalist Church, 190 Academy Road, Old North Andover Center. Isenberg, who does personal and career counseling, will speak about the stresses on women today from trying to juggle career, family, community and church involvement and personal fulfillment. She will talk about ways to avoid too much stress by deciding what is important and making gameplans based on decisions. Isenberg finds that women are seeking more balance in their lives and are willing to make trade-offs to achieve it. For example, she says more women are looking for part-time work instead of full-time jobs.

Women grew up with the cultural values of "The Donna Reed Show" and "Father Knows Best," according to Isenberg and are now struggling to create satisfying lives without the help of useful role models. She will talk about what works and what she has seen in her work with women.

The public is invited. There will be coffee and refreshments at 7:15 p.m. For more information, contact Karen Pearson.

A Magical Month At Collins Center

Glen Campbell

David Copperfield, Glen Campbell, the Joffrey Ballet and "Pinocchio" form the spectacular lineup of music, dance and magic that will be showcased at the J. Everett Collins Performing Arts Center, Andover, in November.

Now in their third magical season, the Collins Center opened in September with John Davidson and his Las Vegas-style show and features an eclectic program in its 20-show series.

An additional performance of David Copperfield's magic show is scheduled for November 13 at 5:30 p.m. Tickets for the 8:30 p.m. performance sold out in September.

A second Glen Campbell Christmas Show performance will be on stage Saturday, Nov. 30, at 8 p.m. to accommodate the overwhelming demand for seats. The November 29 show is also a recent sellout.

The box office announced that tickets for "Pinocchio" are selling quickly a month before the November 29 performance. The Emmy Award-winning Prince Street Players will bring this delightful fairy tale to the Collins Center for two special holiday matinee performances at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

To Conduct Teachers' Workshop

The beat of the drums and the chants of the Zulu natives will accompany Andover teachers in a workshop on South African dance and music, Wednesday, Nov. 13, at West Junior High School Auditorium from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. This workshop, lead by De Ama Battle, artistic director of The Art of Black Dance and Music, is the second in a series of teacher training workshops sponsored by The Arnold Dance Foundation in conjunction with the Andover Schools Fine Arts Department.

Training in the music and dance of four countries, Spain, South Africa, China and Russia, has been planned for the teachers of the high school Odyssey classes, the theater department and the elementary music teachers to enrich their teaching with multi-cultural resources. Through this approach, wider cultural knowledge can be transmitted in future classroom teaching.

The public is invited to attend the workshop free of charge. For more information on the workshops or dance education programs, contact The Arnold Dance Foundation.

Unique Bible Exhibit In Boston

By Laura Haddock

"A non-denominational exhibit on the Bible? What a wonderful thing to do!"

This is a typical comment, but just one of many, from men and women of all backgrounds and religions who have visited the free public exhibit on the Holy Bible which is open each day of the week (except Tuesday) at the Christian Science Center in Boston's Back Bay.

It's a multi-media Bible exhibit. No, it's not what you're probably picturing—a stuffy collection of ancient texts or an attempt to popularize a particular view of religion. Located at one corner of the Christian Science Center, across from the Prudential Center, the Bible Exhibit is a fascinating collaboration between Protestants, Catholics, Jews, between bible scholars and designers. Talent has been gathered in person and by musical recordings and the result has been unique.

There's enough variety in this relatively small space to keep the tourist interested for hours. Or the visitor might just stroll for the short, but breathtakingly beautiful, movie on the Holy Land.

There's a children's corner where youngsters can listen to Bible stores while following along in colorful books with big print and simple wording.

The 44-foot-long plexiglas map at the back of the ground floor triangular room lights up at the push of a button, outlining historical journeys by famous Bible characters, Abraham, Moses, Jesus, Paul, etc. With the help of a "listening wand," an individual hand-held receiver, you can follow along an brilliantly lit "time-line" which actually makes the chronology of Biblical events interesting.

An authentic Dead Sea Cave jar (on loan from the Harvard Semitic Museum) fills a small display case as you walk in the door. Other displays scattered throughout the exhibit space hold historic Bible translations. The years it must have taken to hand-copy one of these is mind-boggling in these days of word processing and high-speed printing presses.

There's nothing for sale—no souvenirs, books or, one could add, no sectarian view of the Bible. Each visitor is given a handsome, colorful Bible Exhibit brochure.

The reference library holds a small, but remarkably varied, collection of Bible atlases, commentaries and other books by scholars representing a range of religious persuasions, evangelical, Catholic, mainline Protestant, Jewish, and nationalities. Translations of the Bible range from Russian to Japanese.

Every visitor should take time to see the outstanding movie and multi-projector slide show in the small theater up the ramp from street level.

In the three or more years it has been in existence, this exhibit has been visited by thousands of people from all over the world, as well as Boston itself, and many have come more than once. The Bible has proved to be of compelling interest to much of mankind.

For those who may not have seen it, it is open daily, except Tuesday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

In the early 1800s, half a Washington stamp (10 cents) was often used for 5 cents postage.

Rehearsal

Boston Concert Opera will open the dress rehearsal of Puccini's "Turandot" to senior citizens, free of charge, at the Salem High School auditorium Tuesday, Nov. 19, at 7:30 p.m.

Warrior Band Scores High

Andoer High Drum Major Kristin Duffy directs the band in a fashion which gained her a second place finish in the competition held Sunday at Boston University.

The Andover High School Marching Band scored first in music among eight Division I competitors at the New England Scholastic Band Association 1985 Championship Finals, held Sunday at Boston University's rain-soaked Nickerson Field. In the overall competition, however, the band's silver medal—the highest score they have received this year—was not enough to boost them past a heartbreakingly close fourth place.

The eight Division I bands—six from Massachusetts and two from Rhode Island—were judged from the field and from the stands on music, marching, percussion excellence and the performance of each drum major. Total scores—and overall rankings—were based on a "perfect" score of 100; five bands received silver medals, the highest given in Division I, and three earned bronze awards. In the music catagory, Andover scored a full point above its nearest competitor, Westwood—a substantial edge in an otherwise tightly-fought competition.

The Music ranking aside, Andover fell prey to a series of "almosts." Senior Kristin Duffy came in second to Westwood's drum major in the Drum Major competition; the Andover drum line ranked second to King Philip Regional High of Wrentham in percussion. And, in total scores, Andover amassed 76.5 points—placing a close fourth behind Westwood, who had 76.8, and North Reading, with 77.3. King Philip took top honors, earning a total of 80.1 points. The fourth place ranking came as a disappointment to band members, who were hoping to place in the top three this year.

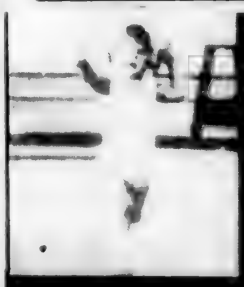

Although proud of his band's music award, and of the silver medal—Andover's first for the year—director Marc Keroack said of the totals, "I would've liked it better with four more tenths of a point in the score. But I'm satisfied." He added that marching scores had sabotaged the overall Andover ranking, but that the band will be instituting a Winter Guard this year—giving off-season practice to the color guard, an advantage now held by the majority of high-ranking schools in NESBA competition. "Winter Guard should bring up our marching scores for next year," he said.

The NESBA Championship Finals marked the end of high school marching band competition for 1985.

Antifreeze

Antifreeze is a year-round fluid, able to protect the car's cooling system from freezing in winter, boiling over in summer and corroding prematurely.

AAA Merrimack Valley reminds motorists that antifreeze must be diluted with water before it can be used. Straight antifreeze actually turns to slush at low temperatures.

"The preferred mix is one part water, one part antifreeze, which lowers its freezing point to -34 degrees F and raises the mix's boiling point to 263 degrees F, adequate temperatures for most American climates," said Kevin P. Clement, manager of Emergency Road Service for AAA Merrimack Valley.

"If more freezing protection is needed, a better mixture may be two parts antifreeze and one part water," he said.

AAA's advice: change antifreeze every two years. Chekc it for freezing point every year, now, before temperatures start to drop.

Belafonte

Internatinal singing star of stage and TV, Harry Belafonte, will appear at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium on Wednesday, Nov. 27, at 8 p.m. in a two-hour show with his New World Band. All seats are reserved. Tickets may be obtained through Ticketron agencies or the auditorium box office.

Former Pastor Returns

As part of their year-long celebration of 140 years of Methodist witness in North Andover, the First United Methodist Church, 57 Peters St., (intersection of Routes 114 and 133) has invited a former pastor to bring the Word of God to community residents at the 10 a.m. service of worship this Sunday, Nov. 10.

The Rev. Donald A. Williams, a retired member of the Southern New England Conference, who served the church from 1957 to 1963, will be the second of several former pastors to return and occupy this pulpit.

The Rev. Mr. Williams has served churches in Algoma, West Kewannee and Tomahawk, Wisc., Leominster, Brookline, Woburn and Bryantville, Mass., and was a chaplain in the U.S. Army during the Korean War.

Members and friends of the congregation will be able to greet the Rev. Mr. Williams and his wife, Adelaide, at a coffee hour in their honor following the service.

The public is invited to participate in this service of worship and share in the celebration of Methodist witness for the Greater Lawrence area.

Tires

With front-wheel drive showing up in more and more cars, it is increasingly important that motorists understand proper tire rotaion, moving the tires from one wheel position to another. AAA Merrimack Valley advises that rotating not only improves handling safety, but also lengthens the life of the tires.

"Uniform tire wear is especially important on front-wheel drive cars, where front tires carry most of the car's weight and bear the brunt of steering, braking and accelerating forces," aid Kevin P. Clement, manager of emergency road service for AAA Merrimack Valley.

"For the best handling in bad weather, all tires should match," Clement says.

Planners Consider Protection Of Property Abutting Business Zone

By Susan K. O'Neill

Property protection—general and personal—took the spotlight at the Oct. 30 meeting of the Andover Planning Board. Working from a rough draft drawn up by Principal Planner Nancy K. Jeton, the board spent much of the three-hour meeting attempting to define the scope and placement of a proposed multi-family buffer zone—which would, theoretically, protect residential zones from encroachment by the Central Business District (CBD). Also discussed were proposed landscape buffers between new businesses and their residential neighbors.

Andover zoning bylaws now provide for four residence districts: Single Residence A, B and C, and Apartment. The proposed Multi-Family zoning, if it is accepted by voters at April's Town Meeting, will create a new category.

In the form proposed Wednesday night—a draft which probably will change substantially before it is finalized—the Multi-Family buffer zone would comprise a corridor of properties on the northern and eastern borders of the General Business District. Most of the area is now zoned Single Residence A and contains a number of residences currently used for more than one family under "grandfather clauses."

Defined in Jeton's proposal as a "vehicle for protecting diverse housing opportunities and reinforcing the definition of the edge of the business zone," a Multi-Family zone would permit property owners to build additional residential units into their existing homes. Such zoning would not, Jeton emphasized during the discussion, be "an invitation to expand the GB zone."

In its proposed form, Multi-Family zoning would not allow contractors to put up new apartment buildings. "We're saying, you may retrofit an existing house into a multi-family house," Jeton explained. New apartments would be subject to specific size regulations, and off-street parking—two spaces per two-bedroom unit, and one per single-bedroom apartment—would have to be provided at the side or back of the house.

Board members differed on the number of units that should be allowed per house. Agreeing that there should be a limit, Board Chairman Margaret M. Bradshaw ended the discussion by saying, "Let's say four and think about it."

Jeton's proposal also specified that revamped homes in Multi-Family zones feature front lawns and landscaped "buffers"—evergreen fences or borders—to screen them from their neighbors and to help maintain the residential character of the neighborhood.

These proposed buffers would extend along the entire length of the border between the two properties; they would consist of "dense plantings" of evergreen that would measure at least four feet high at planting and would grow to a minimum of six feet within two years.

In the course of the discussion, Bradshaw questioned the aesthetics of screening. "Do we really want landscaped buffers?" she asked. "Fences could be more noxious than what they shield."

"Maybe we should just recommend that there be a landscaped buffer, and leave it to the discrimination of the developer for the design," considered Jeton. The question, in the end, was consigned to further study.

The bulk of the Multi-Family Zone issue, from the configuration of the proposed zone to particulars, such as the percentage of ground that may be covered by buildings and parking (the "footprint"), was earmarked for further study, and will be treated at later meetings of the Planning Board.

The concept of buffers between individual properties had been introduced prior to the Multi-Family Zone discussion. It first surfaced earlier in the evening, in a discussion about protecting residential property that lies within the General Business Zone—an issue that is not fully treated in the existing zoning bylaws. Maintaining that it is desirable to encourage the mixture of residential sites within the GB zone, Jeton had proposed that any business installed next to a lot in residential use be required to install either the living hedge, or a six-foot fence,

Kitchen Design

EUROPEAN AND AMERICAN CABINETS

The kitchen cabinet market is divided into two basic styles: American or traditional, and European. Each style has a distinctive construction. A traditional cabinet may have any door design, from colonial to contemporary, but the door will always be hinged to a wooden frame which is, in turn, attached to a wooden cabinet box. In a traditional cabinet the frame is visible. The doors do not cover it. The European-style cabinet is characterized by a sleek line of doors that fit flush to one another and are attached to frameless boxes. The doors, often laminated but sometimes wood, completely cover the cabinet box. The cabinet box is usually made of laminated high-density particleboard rather than wood.

For the most complete source of all types of cabinets come to WINDSOR KITCHENS. We have the styles, the designs, the texture and finish of cabinet to satisfy everyone's home decor and personal lifestyle. Our showroom displays factory and custom built cabinets and can discuss all our decorating services with you. Come in to 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill and let our experience show through in your new kitchen. Mon.-Thurs. 9-5:30, Fri. til 8, Sat. til 2. Tel. 372-3444

Flagpole Dedication Honors Ballardvale's First Librarian

By Susan K. O'Neill

On the Green in Ballardvale, a quiet place of monuments and memories, two rock-mounted plaques stand in mute respect to local soldiers, lost in the past on soil far from Andover.

Above these tower a pair of white flagpoles. One, like the monuments, commemorates a soldier. The second—the newer one—will be dedicated on Monday, Veteran's Day, to a citizen whose only uniform was the rather ordinary sort of dress that a librarian might wear in the years between 1913 and 1943.

Although Martha Byington was not a soldier, no one in Ballardvale could dispute her right to a space on the Green. For 30 years, between 1913 and 1943, she presided over the Ballardvale branch of Andover's Memorial Hall Library. The flagpole that honors her memory now stands on the spot on the Green where, until three years ago, the old schoolhouse—the building that housed her library—used to stand.

The Byingtons—mother, father, and two children—moved from Vermont to their big stone house on High Street in 1906, when Martha was 33 years old. The house, according to Barbara Loomer, a Ballardvale resident who knew the family, was a magnet of sorts for many of the town children. "There was a warm, warm home atmosphere," says Mrs. Loomer. "They loved children—they understood them, which was rather unusual at that time. They kept games for the children in their library at the house," she recalls. She remembers the parties: there were birthday parties; there were caroling parties at Christmas—complete with hot cocoa. And there were special festivities at "sugaring-down time," when young hands scooped up snow and stirred candy-making pots in the big kitchen to make treats from maple syrup sent down by Vermont relatives.

The family was well-regarded in town as a group of unique, productive individuals who regularly attended Ballardvale Congregational Church. "They were a very intellectual family," says Mrs. Loomer of the Byingtons, "and they used it in a very meaningful way, for people. They didn't keep it to themselves. They were always willing to share."

When Ballardvale opened its branch library in 1913, Miss Byington was a natural choice for the position of the village's first librarian. Her life, like the house on High Street, had been filled with learning. George Phelps Byington, Martha's father, had been a Congregational minister; her brother Stephen, a proofreader for Ginn & Company publishing house in Boston, was a nationally-known translator who had fluent command of 11 languages. Martha's mother loved books—"She taught me to read when I was three years old," recalls Mrs. Loomer.

Martha herself was a graduate of Mount Holyoke College. Prior to moving from Vermont, she had taught physical culture—the early term for physical education. Mrs. Loomer recalls that Miss Byington kept exercise equipment in her family's barn. "It was a full-scale gym for those days," she says. "We children—there were six or eight of us who used to be up there all the time—we used to use it."

A small, dark-haired, vigorous woman—rather serious, but with a good sense of humor—Martha Byington had given up teaching to care for her mother when the latter had reached 70. When she took the librarian position, Miss Byington evidently did so for love, not for money. Newspaper accounts state that, when her mother needed an attendant, Martha paid out 40 cents an hour for the job—which was substantially more than her own 25-cent-per-hour salary.

One of the then-teenagers who spent time with the elderly Mrs. Byington was Ruth Sharpe, who is the current librarian for the Ballardvale branch library. Mrs. Sharpe remembers reading to her.

$9,000 In Stolen Property Recovered; Nine Arrested

By Lisa Waterman

Nine thousand dollars worth of cameras, antique silver flatware, calculators, wallets, walkmans and skateboards, taken from the dorm rooms and dining common of Phillips Academy, South Main Street, during ten different incidents have been recovered by ANdover Police.

In addotion, 15 cases of breaking and entering over the past five weeks, have been resolved by police department detectives and charged to nine Andover youths.

A five-week investigation under the direction of Sgt. Det. John Houlihan working with Det. David Grant, Det. Joseph Hastings and Det. Kevin Winters, climaxed with information early last week, that led to the nine youths. The young people in question were asked to come into the station and return the stolen items, according to Sgt. Det. Houlihan.

"They were all clean-cut kids and fit in with the Phillips Academy students," Det. David Grant told the TOWNSMAN.

"They would enter unlocked dorm rooms and put the items they wanted in book bags and walk out into the campus. In the dining commons they would just take students book bags, when the students were unaware," Det. David Grant said.

Two of the 16-year-old youths have been linked to two burglaries to private residences, with a third still under investigation, according to Det. Sgt. Houlihan.

Refreshing Moves

Some discussions which took place at the school committee meeting a week ago should be looked upon as refreshing reaction to a couple of particular problems.

First, of course, is the critique of the municipal maintenance department, which Committeeman Susan Poore feels needs an examination as to whether or not the concept is working.

The other commentary was from Committeeman Richard Neal who feels the user fees for sports and other extra-curricular activities is in need of review.

The time for re-examination of the municipal maintenance concept certainly has arrived.

Fostered as the cure-all to all of the town's maintenance problems which would result in considerable savings to the town, there lies some doubt as to whether that goal has ever been achieved.

As is the case with all newly-created municipal departments, the agency continues to grow in expense annually, but some of the projects in need of attention continue to suffer from neglect.

If the system is not working, then it is imperative that corrective measures be taken.

Andover has properties worth several million dollars. In need of not only routine maintenance, these properties often require major repairs due to the constant public use and the simple fact that replacements of roofing materials, boilers, ventilating systems, etc. are natural.

Failure to give such attention can only result in further deterioration to a substantial public investment.

For that reason, Mrs. Poore seems to be correct when she states that "something is dramatically wrong with the the process, not the people implementing it, but the way it is being implemented."

Administrative attention to the situation is warranted.

As for user fees, anything that would allow our young people to continue to represent their community in athletics, music, dramatics, without having to pay for the privilege, is well in order.

As one might suspect, implementation of user fees and other such extracurricular costs, popularized after the passage of Proposition 2½, is a favorite topic discussed in these columns periodically.

What Mr. Neal has in mind with regard to a study of the user fee system in the public schools is unclear at this point. But, any effort to either eliminate or at least reduce such family costs is certainly justified.

Youngsters who work diligently after school hours practicing to perform and represent their community in various endeavors should not, in all reality, be penalized by having to pay for that privilege.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — November 1910

Halloween was fittingly observed in town both by small boys who with their lanterns and bean-blowers menaced the safety of all who dared go abroad and also by the numerous gatherings of young people.

The football squad will leave on the 11:59 train tomorrow for Exeter, where they will meet the Exeter High team in what is expected to be the hardest struggles of the season.

Considerable amusement and excitement among students of Phillips Academy was created last week by the attempt of a stranger, whose identity has not been discovered, to witness the secret practice of the football team previous to the Exeter game. Rumors of the suspicious appearance of this unknown individual, his interest in football, his pair of field glasses, and his vain attempt to hire a room overlooking the ball field, came to the ears of the coach and trainer, and they decided to give the stranger an exhibition of the team work.

Governor Eben S. Draper has issued a proclamation, designating Thursday, Nov. 25, Thanksgiving Day.

Five new Chinese students entered Phillips Academy this week. These boys are part of the delegation sent by the Chinese government to America for education purposes.

50 Years Ago — November 1935

A North Main Street man was taken into custody by Methuen police Monday afternoon during the mix-up which occured in the struggle for the goal posts following Punchard's 19-0 victory over Methuen High. He was released at the station sometime later, the local selectman having intervened in his behalf. A group of about 100 Punchard supporters waited around the station until his release.

Superintendent of the Board of Public Works Charles T. Gilliard was notified verbally yesterday afternoon over the telephone that the sum of $44,012 had been granted to Andover under the W.P.A. farm to market program. This money would be used on gravelling roads in the farming sections of the town, West Andover and Salem Street way, and the state engineer has a list of roads amounting to about 40 miles from which selections will be made.

A Locke street woman sustained contusions and bruises about the head, arms and legs, and was badly shaken up when hit by an automobile on Main Street last Saturday night, as she hurried across the street to board a bus. She was taken to the office of Dr. Philip Blake and later removed to the Clover Hill hospital. The driver of the machine involved reported to police, that he did not see the woman until she was a few feet in front of his car.

There is a very strong possibility that Andover will have resident representation after next year, County Commissioner Frederick Butler stated Tuesday. The town might possibly be put in a district with North Andover and Middleton or with North Andover and Ward I of Lawrence, but in either case, Andover would have numerical strength to put a representative of her own, the commissioner stated.

Town Treasurer Thaxter Eaton this week sold the first property taken over by the town for non-payment of taxes in two years. This is only one of the dozen parcels taken over for non-payment of taxes two years ago that has not been returned to the owner. Two of those parcels have been redeemed in part while the others have all been redeemed in full. This is an excellent record for a town in these days when so many communities are burdened with property that they have had to take over permanently.

Assessment Procedures

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Over the past year, we have attempted to bring problems related to property assessments in Andover to the attention of our fellow townsmen. Many have expressed interest in knowing more about the mechanics of filing appeals, and so we would like to share what we have learned.

To file for an abatement locally, you need only give your name and identify the property on the appropriate form available at the assessors' office. You need not make a full argument on the form. You are entitled simply to say that you think your assessment is unfair. In fact, you need not say anything at all. The assessors can then contact you if they have any questions. You must file within 30 days of the issuing of your tax bill. The assessors then have 90 days from the date you file to respond to you. You are responsible for knowing when you filed and when your 90-day response time ends. If you are not satisfied with the response you get, you have 90 days from the date you are notified to appeal the decision to the state's Appellate Tax Board. If the local assessors do not respond within 90 days of your original request, state law says you can assume you have been denied. However, you then have five months within which to file with the Appellate Board instead of three.

To make a successful appeal is more difficult. The town is required to file and have certified by the state, a report showing the town's "coefficient of dispersion." This states that the town's assessments are at a given percentage of fair market value as determined by a study of sales in the town. The percentage is going to be at or near 100 percent, as required by law. The state requires that 80 percent of the sales fall within 10 percent, plus or minus, of the percentage given. In other words, the state requires that the town's assessments follow a bell curve peaking at the registered percentage, and having the bulk of assessments falling within the area 10 percent either side of that point. To show that your assessment is too high, you must show that you are more than 10 percent above the percentage at the top of that curve. That is, if the town is at 100 percent, you must show that your assessment is more than 110 percent of its market value. Alternatively, you can challenge the town's estimation of assessed value compared to market value — the coefficient of dispersion. Given the explosive nature of the real estate market in Andover, assessments quickly fall behind market value, that is why the coefficient of dispersion can be shown to be outdated well within the period it is in use. You must then show that your assessment is 10 percent plus above the figure you show to be the true coefficient of dispersion at the time you were assessed.

This rapid rise in prices is also responsible for the shock we will all continue to feel each time we see our new assessed valuation, as our assessors attempt to keep us even with the rapidly rising prices paid for even the most modest property with an Andover address. While our assessments rise, growth of the town, both residential and commercial, coupled with Proposition 2½, means that the dollar amount we pay should not jump unconscionably.

All those wishing to file with the Appellate Board are going to need certain information in

Warrior Booters Champions

By Billy-Ernesto Martin

With two victories last week, the Andover High School varsity soccer team became league champions for the fifth time in six years. The first victory came against a weak Dracut team, which Andover overpowered in a 10-0 rout. Only 30 seconds into the contest, Scott Wilkins scored on a rebound with the assist from John Lecomte. Six minutes later, Chris Sapuppo headed in with the assist from Wilkins. David Doyle made the score 3-0 on a pass from Sapuppo at the 14-minute mark. John Lecomte then scored from 18 yards on a pass from Geoff Bolan. Sapuppo added his second goal of the game when he scored on a breakaway three minutes later. Lecomte added his second goal to make the score 6-0, on Sapuppo's second assist. Wilkins completed the first-half scoring with his second goal with 14 minutes remaining in the half on a pass from Dave Bartle.

Chris Abell resumed the rout eight minutes into the second half as he scored on a pass from Mark Neaves. Jim Saalfrank made the score 9-0 when he scored with the assist from Brian Cronin. Saalfrank completed the scoring with a breakaway goal on a pass from Abell.

Andover had a slim one-point lead over second-place Billerica and needed either a tie or win to become the Merrimack Valley League champions. Earlier in the season the two teams had played to a 0-0 draw, but this time it was winner take all. The Golden Warriors rose to the occasion and came away with a hard fought 1-0 victory. Scott Wilkins recorded the only goal of the game nine and one-half minutes into the contest as he tapped in a pass from Tom Ciolfi. After the goal the teams played back and forth, but excellent defense and goalkeeping prevented any further scoring.

One final note, the Merrimack Valley Large School Division, (coached by Dave Amundsen, Andover; Jim Kelley, Billerica; and Gary Fadden, Chelmsford) defeated the Small Schools, (coached by Dick Scanlon, Tewksbury; Steve Scanlon, Methuen) 2-1, in the All-Star Game last Saturday at Eugene V. Lovely Field. All-Stars from Andover included Captain Dave Bartle, goalie Bob Pothier, Barry Tucker, Scott Wilkins, Paul McAdam, and Chris Sapuppo.

Warriors Tame Lions

By Bob Manning

Last Friday night was the scene of one of the most exciting games in the Merrimack Valley Conference this year. The Andover Golden Warriors, led by Captain Tim Perry, hosted the Chelmsford Lions and "the Harry Ball show" with Andover winning 19-15.

•Both teams struggled offensively in the first quarter, but Harry Ball took over. Chelmsford started on their own 24 and soon Ball found the endzone and also kicked the extra point, which made it 7-0.

That's all it took to wake up Andover's offense. They took the kickoff on their own seven and marched 93 yards. The rushing attack was led by Steve Redgate and Gus Duffy, who greatly contributed to Andover's 127 yards on the ground. The drive looked as if it would stall, but Perry scrambled around the end on the fourth and two to put the ball first and 10 on the Chelmsford 10. Two plays later, Kevin Rourke grabbed a Perry pass for Andover's first six points. That was all the Warriors would get, however, as Duffy's lick was blocked.

The third quarter looked much like the first with both defenses taking fumbles and exchanging punts. In the fourth quarter, however, Andover's offensive line, with three non-starters, protected Perry and opened holes in a Chelmsford defense that is the biggest in the M.V.C. Andover marched 77 yards capped off by Redgate's three-yard run for the touchdown. The two-point conversion failed, but Andover led 13-7.

With 7:01 left, the Chelmsford Lions roared 52 yards, led by Ball with sprints of 24 and 26 yards. Chelmsford quarterback hit Peter Jack-

PeeWee B's

Playing the Pee Wee team from Salem two days after Halloween was not a good idea. The boys from the bewitching town banded together to beat Andover 6-3.

From this start the boys were playing catch up and, in their usual style, never gave up. It almost succeeded in their attaining a victory. Mike Mernane played net while Andover's goalie was unavailable. Jay Coburn scored his first goal of the season on a beautiful pass from Greg Afarian. Tim Fox played a steady, hard game. Danny Feeley, Pete O'Shea, Bobby Sheehan and Matt Tanner played super positional hockey but to no avail.

The line of Joe Howard, Joe Liguori and Billy Owens combined for another goal by Owens. John Constantine, who always plays 100 percent, did so again this week. The goal to bring Andover into threatening distance was a blast from the blue line by Michael Walsh.

son for the two points and the Lions were on top 15-12.

There were still five minutes and 16 seconds left on the clock. A 23-yard run by Redgate and a 29-yard run by Perry put the ball on the 25 yard line. Andover was stopped cold on the next three plays and on fourth down and 11 the Perry brothers once again saved the day. Tim's 17-yard dart to John put the ball on the eight first and goal. Three plays later, Tim followed center Bob Manning on a quarterback sneak for the winning touchdown.

Captain Joe Jurek missed the game with an infected knee and captain Larry Aiello left the game with torn ligaments. Both are offensive guards and were replaced by sophomore Steve D'Urso and senior Mark Toth, both of whom did an outstanding job.

Promoted

Lynch is a medical service specialist at Pease Air Force Base, N.H., with the 509th Hospital.

Merrimack Opens Against RPI

Why not start with the best? That's what Warrior coach Ron Anderson must have been thinking when he scheduled this year's home opener against last season's best college hockey team in the land.

Merrimack, an NCAA Dividion I independent and ECAC Division II entry simultaneously, opened its season a week before the R.P.I. showdown at the Potsdam Tournament in New York, Nov. 1-2. Then there were five days of practice to get ready for the R.P.I. Engineers, the eighth-ranked Division I team in the nation, according to the latest coaches' poll.

R.P.I. poses a severe opening night test for Merrimack, but it's a challenge coach Anderson relishes.

"We're excited," the third-year coach said. "If you can't get up for the defending national champion, who can you get up for?

"We've got a strong club this year and we're going to try our best to hold our own against them."

The Warriors are coming off a 2-1 pre-season in which they outscored the opposition 23-12. Following a 3-2 loss at Providence, Merrimack shifted in high gear and drubbed St. Anselm 9-3, and Norwich, 12-6. The scoring outburst is a positive early sign, considering Merrimack's biggest problem last season was scoring goals. The squad is bouyed by the return of 18 lettermen from last season's 17-13-3 squad that lost to Bowdoin in the first round of the ECAC II East playoffs. The leader on offense is senior co-captain and forward Chuck Linkenheld (5-18-23) from Schaumburg, Ill. Senior co-captain Joey Iantorno (3-14-17) from Toronto is the dean of defense. Key personnel on offense includes sophomore center Jim Vesey (Charlestown), last season's top goal scorer as a rookie (19-11-30); and freshmen wingers Richard Pion (Montreal) and Brad Atol (Duluth, Minn). Junior goalie Brian Daccord (Montreal), the club's top man in net the past two seasons, will be asked to maintain his high standard of play which produced a 3.09 GAA and .888 save percentage last season.

The Warrior roster contains three NHL draftees, including Vesey (St. Louis), 6'6" freshman defenseman Chris Kiene (New Jersey) and rookie forward Mark Ziliotto (Pittsburgh).

While Merrimack went about the off-season adding NHL picks to its roster, R.P.I. was raided by NHL zealots. A record seven players from last season's 35-2-1 squad have signed contracts with NHL teams. R.P.I. faces some rebuilding this year, but there is still a lot of talent skating for this small engineering college from Troy, New York. Since capturing the national title with a 2-1 win over Providence last spring, R.P.I. has lost five seniors and four underclassmen and added 11 new skaters to its roster. Gone are four of last year's top 10 scorers, three of the top five defensemen and one half of one of the best goaltending tandems in college hockey.

Now the good news for R.P.I. fans, the Engineers still have forward John Carter, senior from Burlington who led the team in goals (43) and was second in points (72) last year. Other top returning skaters include senior defenseman Mike Dark (7-26-33 and junior forward Mark Jooris (19-26-45. The top returning goalie is junior Brian Jopling, a backup to the departed Daren Puppa last season.

"The Crucible"

The Northern Essex Community Collge Creative Arts Series continues with Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 8-9 and 15-16, in the Top Notch Theatre in the Liberal Arts Building on the campus.

Based on the Salem witch trails the play is a drama that raises questions about loyalty, politics, relgion and personal honor.

Miller wrote the play in the 1950s as an analogy to the "witch hunts" of the McCarthy era. The story centers around John and Elizabeth Proctor and how their marriage is affected by the accusation of witchcraft made by a group of teenage girls. The drama is also a love story.

Ballet

The Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre will perform at the Durgin Arts Center of the University of Lowell on Thursday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. in its only appearance in New England this season.

The dance program includes "Concerto Barocco" with music by Bach and choreography by Balanchine; "Tchaikovsky Pas De Deux:," with choreography by Balanchine; "The River," music by Duke Ellington and choreography by Alvin Ailey, and Act 2 of "Swan Lake" by Tchaikovsky.

The American Red Cross was originated in 1881 by Clara Barton, who became the first president.

By She Livermore

Rain played havoc with the A.S.A.'s In Town Program last weekend and most of the games were cancelled. The Northern Middlesex and Merrimack Valley Leagues did play and brief results of those games appear below:

Northern Middlesex League

Andover Terminators 2 - Billerica 2

A strong Billerica contingent took the lead early in the game. Scott Eggert kicked in the equalizer on a pass from Gus Quattlebaum. Quattlebaum made it 2-1 on a pass from Rejji Hayes midway through the second half. Following pressure in front of the net and some great saves by goalie Andy Novelline, Billerica kicked in a high one to end the game in a hard-fought 2-2 tie. BOW: John Shea and John Martin.

Andover Lightning 0 - Chelmsford 4

Chelmsford led 1-0 at the halfway mark and added three more goals in the second half to win 4-0. The Lightning forwards made some good attempts to deny the shutout but were thwarted by excellent defense. BOW: Brad Cronin, Peter Martel, Phil Meckel and Jeff Hamilton.

Andover Cobras 4 - Acton Boxboro 1

Jodi Sanders put the Cobras ahead when she beat the keeper on passes from Andrea Duffy and Megan Sheehan. Suzanne Gianelly kicked in an insurance goal off a corner kick by Elizabeth Hanson and Saunders made it 3-1 at the halfway point on a pass from Michelle DiStefano. Midway through the second half, Gianelly and Hanson connected again. With two minutes remaining, the competition denied the shutout and the Cobras won 4-1. BOW: Duffy, DiStefano and Nicolle Ricci for some excellent passing.

Andover Thunderbolts 2 - Sudbury 4

Doug Bleszinski put the Thunderbolts on the scoreboard early in the game when he beat the keeper off a pass from Ryan O'Leary. Sudbury kicked in the equalizer and added another to lead 2-1 at the halfway mark. They upped their lead to 3-1 midway through the second half and Bleszinski and O'Leary combined again to narrow the gap, however Sudbury came back with one more to win 4-2. BOW: Don Cook, Damien Percival and Mike LeBreck.

Andover Strikers 7

Andover Avengers 0

The Strikers won a lopsided 7-0 victory over the Avengers, scoring four goals in the first half and adding three more in the second. The first-

INFORMATION CONCERNING CABLE TELEVISION FOR EVERYONE.

By Jim Novo, October 31, 1985

While reading the Lawrence Eagle Tribune dated 11/1/85, I was surprised to see an article on Rollins CableVision. I couldn't help wondering why Ms. Sarah Betts, Eagle Tribune writer, did not contact us for clarification on the issues discussed from our point of view. I tried several times to contact Ms. Betts to ask for equal time; she never returned my calls. Here I present the Rollins side of the story.

Readers of this column will note that I have written on the subject of public access television before. Rollins supplies over $2.5 million dollars of staff and equipment to provide each community we service with the capability of providing and airing their own programming. Anyone can take the training course and take out the equipment free of charge. We agree with School Superintendent Kenneth Seifert, who mentioned in the article Rollins commitment to local access. In fact, over 150 people in this community have taken the course.

The costs mentioned in the article, between $30 and $40 per taping, may refer to the cost of having someone to do the taping for you; if community members tape the show, the cost is only your time spent. I believe the equipment liability issue stems from our release papers which state that if the equipment (over $10,000 per set) is damaged not by normal wear and tear, but by abuse or neglect, the repairs must be paid for by those responsible for the damage.

I commend the League of Women Voters for being the first group to take responsibility for taping the meetings; they were certainly doing the community a service. It is time for the rest of us in the community to do our share. I myself took the first course Saturday, 11/2; I would be willing to do my part as a resident and access producer, outside my affiliation with the cable system, to help organize a group of other residents to tape these meetings.

Anyone who wishes to participate, clip this column out and mail it to the address below, or contact me by phone. If you miss seeing the meetings on cable television, now is your chance to do something about it.

Traffic Lights, Maintenance Of Schools Before Board

By Susan K. O'Neill

Issues of the Common Man—traffic lights, school maintenance and raising money for social programs through a hotel tax—took up the bulk of time at Andover's Nov. 4 Board of Selectmen meeting, while those of business and taxation passed with little debate.

In addition, Rep. Sue Tucker spoke with selectmen about pending and proposed state legislation that will affect the towns.

Two issues that have sparked much past debate, the classification of property for taxation and a request for a license to operate for Shawsheen's new Dunkin Donuts, received quick and unanimous approvals from the board.

Tax classification, explained chairman Bill Dalton, is a yearly issue. Last year, after much consideration, Andover property tax rates for businesses were raised slightly, which made them higher than residential taxes. Monday night's unanimous vote for approval of that same classification will mean that the discrepancy will remain in effect for this year.

Because the subject had been treated at length in the past, there was no debate on the approval of a Common Victualler's for the new Shawsheen Dunkin Donuts at 349 N. Main St.

Another subject from the past—a proposed hotel tax—raised its head as a non-agenda item. Don Coleman of High St. asked the board to reconsider the tax—the speedy institution of which would require consideration at a special town meeting—because revenues it would raise could be of benefit to local social programs, especially those for the elderly. The issue had been considered at length and defeated by a mixed board vote at an earlier meeting; Monday night's vote on reopening the question was again mixed, with the motion defeated 3 to 2. Selectman John Scileppi and chairman Dalton voted in the minority, favoring reconsideration.

The board yielded much time to the issue of traffic control; there was good news and bad news. Three sets of lights are scheduled to be installed to help regulate the flow of traffic to and from Route 93 in the area of Shattuck and River Roads—good news to members of the West Andover Neighborhood Society, who have petitioned for the lights.

Less welcome was the news, offered by Rep. Tucker in response to a question from Don Coleman, that there has been no decision on the placement of a stoplight at the intersection of Waverly Road and Rt. 114, North Andover, a corner where traffic is now held at bay by blinking lights. "This is an issue that has been around for three years," Rep. Tucker commented later. "The DPW thinks it would be dangerous to place a stoplight at the top of the hill." She pledged that she would continue in her attempt to convince the Department otherwise.

Lights are also being considered on and around Rt. 125 to ease the rush hour congestion in the Merrimack College area. Traffic counts in the area, according to Rep. Tucker, will begin next week.

Several members of South School's P.T.O. came to the meeting at the invitation of the board to discuss school maintenance. Concerned that maintenance matters, ranging from safety lighting for the school's front entrance to tattered curtains in the resource room, are not being addressed with speed, the parents voiced confusion about their available channels of action.

School maintenance has fallen to the town department for only a year and a half. Acknowledging that the relative newness of the situation might, indeed, lead to confusion, board member Donn Byrne tried to simplify the criteria for using the maintenance department. "In your own home when you have something to be done," he said, "would you hire a skilled craftsman?" If so, he concluded, the school equivalent would require the ministrations of town maintenance. He further explained that the town would handle problems of public health and safety, rather than hanging pictures.

"We do hang pictures," interjected town manager Kenneth Mahony.

At one point, South School P.T.O. president Margie Dresser asked, "Where do new library curtains come from?" Byrne replied that curtains would be a replacement item, not maintenance.

Voicing a frustration shared by her companions, a P.T.O. member who refused to be identified stated that she knew of a list of items that have long required maintenance at South School. "They haven't been fixed," she said. "I want them fixed." Told that the proper channel for such requests would be her school's principal, she answered, "Should the principal be in charge of what maintenance items should be done? She's in charge of education." Pressed to enumerate the items on her list, she demurred. "I'm not sure this is the proper forum."

Ultimately, the parents were directed to consult their principal, Jade Augur, concerning untended maintenance items. As a second resort, they were instructed to speak with the school superintendant. Board member Charles Wesson voiced his regrets about the breakdown of communication underlying the issue, "It's too bad that we're a year and a half into the system and the P.T.O. still doesn't know what channel to use."

In her report to the board, Rep. Sue Tucker announced that state money—up to $100,000 from historical preservation grants and funds—might be available for the renovation of Andover's old town hall.

She also indicated that Boston's need for water will probably pose a distinct threat to the Merrimack River in the not-so-distant future. Studies have been done concerning the feasibility of diverting part of the river to bolster Boston's future water supply; according to Tucker, the proposal would be costly but workable. "We've cleaned the river up at a cost of millions of dollars," she later explained. "Now we're trying to get a group of communities along the river together to save it." She added that it is unlikely that Boston would tap the Merrimack soon—"nothing will probably hap-

Firefighter John Landry hoses down charred remains of High Street carriage shed which burned last Friday.

Fire Destroys Carriage Shed

Fire destroyed a carriage shed, Friday morning, but the High Street farmhouse and connecting barn were saved due to timely calls of two passing boys to the Andover Fire Department.

Frances Fay, 173 High St. and her 14-year-old son were home, when trash that was being incinerated in a trash barrel ignited the old carriage shed that was in close proximity to the farmhouse and attached barn.

Two boys, who were passing by, reported the fire to the Andover Fire Department at 11:23 a.m. The boys did not identify themselves, according to Deputy Fire Chief Harold Wright.

The single alarm fire was confined to the building after the arrival of Unit Two Firefighting crew, minutes after the call.

"The boys who called it in saved the day," Wright said. "If the call had come ten or 15 minutes later, it could have spread to the large barn that is attached to the house. It was a well advanced fire in an open type structure and they spread quickly."

The fire was under control in one hour and 14 minutes, according to Wright.

Lt. Richard Merola, who sustained a twisted leg while at the scene, was treated and released from Lawrence General Hospital on Friday afternoon.

The shed contained some old household appliances. The family was planning to remove the carriage shed, according to Wright.

Deming Honored By AT&T

Dr. W. Edwards Deming, right, quality control expert credited as the force behind the postwar quality control movement in Japan, cuts into his 85th birthday cake with James E. Olson, president and chief operating officer of AT&T, during a Quality and Productivity Seminar for AT&T managers of the company's Merrimack Valley Works in North Andover.

"The most famous name in Japanese quality control is American," reads an advertisement run by a Japanese metal company. And that name is W. Edwards Deming.

Deming, who celebrated his 85th birthday Wednesday as he gave his ninth quality control seminar to AT&T managers in Mass[illegible]husetts, is credited with revolutionizing qua[illegible]and productivity in postwar Japan.

He is so highly regarded in Japan for his contributions that a prestigious medal honoring outstanding achievements in quality control was established and named the Deming Prize.

Deming was also decorated in the name of the Emperor with the Second Order Medal of the Sacred Treasure, an honor held by only one other American.

He is still teaching, presenting seminars and working as a consultant with many major companies in this country.

Deming has presented nine seminars to AT&T managers over the past three years, but his connection with AT&T dates back to his employment as a summer student in 1925 and 1926 at the Hawthorn Works in Chicago.

In France, it is considered good luck to eat pancakes on New Year's Day.

Screening

Boston University will host a special screening of "Eleni" by Nicholas Gage on Wednesday, Nov. 13, at the Boston Sack Cheri Theater.

"Eleni" is the story of the author's mother's struggle to get herself and her five children out of Greece and her death during the Greek civil war. The book has been adapted into a motion picture by CE[illegible]roductions and will open in Boston on November 15.

In 1979, foreign investors owned less than one percent of American farmland.

presidential balloting at Abbot Academy. The vice president easily out-distanced his Democratic opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy, 184-68. Results of the secret ballot were announced in the school newspaper "The Cynosure" this week. In bold headlines across page one, the paper announced "Nixon Wins 3-1 Landslide." Students, faculty and staff endorsed the Republican nominee.

The Selectman have charged the Boston and Maine Railroad with "applying the squeeze" in an attempt to have the town agree to proposed track and street changes at the Essex Street crossing. Chairman Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. made the charge to a railroad representative, Allan Leavitt, who was showing the Selectmen a map of the area with the suggested changes. Member William Stewart vigorously agreed with his colleague.

A full-scale election will be held at the high school next Tuesday, with voting continuing throughout the school day.

A minumum of $5,000 per year wage for members of the police and fire departments, with a maximum of $5,300 is being considered by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff and members of the advisory committee on salaries and wages.

10 Years Ago — November 1975

Andover's taxpayers retained their consistently remarkable record of meeting the deadline on one of those little necessities of life—payment of taxes. Tax Collector Myron A. Muise reported after the Monday deadline for payment of taxes that $5,275,000 or about 97 percent of the commitment for the first half of the year had been paid.

At Monday night's meeting Associate Superintendent Harry Westcott had recommended the fifth and sixth grade pilot at West Elementary School, beginning at the start of the second semester in January.

The Indian Ridge Vikings lost the battle but won the war. The Vikes closed out their Andover Junior Football League season last Sunday with a 12-7 loss to the upstart Ballardvale Browns, but the defeat didn't stop Coach Kevin Winters' crew from capturing the 1975 league championship.

Loft six of Bancroft School was transformed into a courtroom last week, with students taking the roles of lawyers, witnesses and jurors. While a real judge (complete with black robe and gavel) presided. The basis for the trial was a "case" submitted by a student, Barbara Pill, in which a women was accused of the murder of a young trick or treater.

Negotiations between the Department of Public Works Employees and the town have gone to fact finding. Town Manager J. Maynard Austin reported this week that the fact finder had been called in the collective bargaining process.

will appear in Lawrence District Court in the near future and will be eligible for Andover's Diversion program, according to Houlihan. The Diversion program allows juvenile offenders to work off sentences by serving in Community Service activities with organizations who participate in the program.

All the items from the Phillips Academy thefts have been recovered and claimed by their original owners.

The recovery of $9,000 worth of items brings the total of recovered stolen goods from Andover private citizens and merchants over the past 15 months to $43,000 by police department detectives, according to Det. Kevin Winters.

common. It would obviously be in their best interest to do some of the work in concert to ease the work load for each. If you are interested in following this course, we would be willing to help you get started. For more information, call Debby Moggio or Joan Prum.

along the common property line. This buffer would screen the residence from the business, helping to maintain privacy and creating a definitive border between the two.

Discussion of the individual border ensued. "Would this make it tough for residents to go into business?" asked member Paul R. Curley of the board and Jeton. The question met with no firm answer. Because it, too, is still a preliminary proposal, the individual buffer concept still under study.

The board also considered the possible rezoning of a number of property parcels, now zoned Single Residence A, which border the area now occupied by the GB Zone. Among these were homes on Punchard Avenue and Chestnut, Brook, Park, Florence, Bartlet and Elm Streets. In considering the individual questions, the board differed on what, exactly, should be the criteria for rezoning a residential property into GB.

Board member Michael Houghton offered three of his own rezoning criteria, emphasizing that they were personal guidelines. He suggested that a potential rezoning should "encourage retail growth versus office growth," an idea in keeping with findings of a survey done last summer which put office vacancy at a 10 percent rate within the GB Zone. Second, suggested Houghton, rezoning should protect the residential area next to the GB zone. His third criterion was that rezoning not increase the present downtown parking deficit.

Members disagreed with Houghton's first guideline on the basis that zoning bylaws do not differentiate between the potential use of a GB property as an office or as retail space. "They can tell us they're putting in X, Y, and Z," said Chairman Bradshaw, "But what we're voting in is GB."

In discussing the individual parcels offered as potential rezoning cases, members differed sharply. At issue in many cases was whether neighboring businesses created a "hardship" for the residence in question; board members could not come to a fully-workable definition of "hardship." Said Curley in one instance, "Is that unit rented? Is it income-producing? Where's the hardship?"

Throughout the discussion, Jeton reminded the board that treatment of all parcels should show consistancy. "If you're going to establish criteria," she said, "Apply them equally."

Ultimately, a number of the parcels were recommended for Multi-Family Zone designation. No definitive action was taken on any individual piece of property.

In separate actions at the meeting, the board:

• Voted to allow developer Gus Gautier to continue construction on three sites in the Jenkins Estates development—given that Gautier has complied with earlier board requirements to stabilize the soil.

• Voted to establish bond figures by street for four streets in the Olympic Village subdivision, subject to the completion of binders.

• Denied a request by Edmond Hammond, developer of the Hammond Way subdivision, to allow a reduction in the proposed width of a street from 26 feet to 24.

The field hockey team finished their season with an 8-0-1 record, placing them at the top of the Merrimack Valley Conference. Led by co-captains Amy Mencis and Janine Meckel, this team was largely inexperienced (only four girls had ever played the game before this season) and because of their positive attitude and hard work won eight straight games. Congratulations to all 24 girls.

Finally, the football squad, still undefeated, romped over Chelmsford 20-6. Strong play by many of the second string contributed to the victory. The boys have two more games left in their season. Good luck to Mr. Hurley and the entire team.

Aluminum Age: The Whole Job—plus that Little Extra

If you need vinyl siding, gutters, a roof, a porch, masonry work, new steps or a complete remodeling job for your kitchen or bathroom, it's important to know about Aluminum Age. Aluminum Age, at 170 Main St., North Reading, sells everything you need—and installs it all.

If Fall's chill winds are whistling through the chinks and gaps in your storm doors and windows, it's important to know that Aluminum Age can fix or replace them NOW—before your house is wrapped in snow and left at the mercy of Winter.

If your house desperately needs well-plotted, usable room, it's important to know that Aluminum Age builds additions so well that they look as if they've been there all the time.

But if you're particular about your house—if you don't want anything done that isn't done right—the most important thing to know about Aluminum Age is what its customers are eager to tell you.

You can ask Jean Valente, who manages the office of her family's 25-year-old business, what she's heard from customers. "We're referred to as a very honest company, very sincere," she'll tell you. Or you can read the letters customers have written—letters sent after the job is done. Letters that say things like:

"It is so nice in this day and age to hire workers who are diligent and who take pride in their work..."

"We got the feeling that more was done than we bargained for—that little extra that made dealing with you so reassuring..."

"Thank you for a very professional job."

A professional job; the whole job. That's what the Valentes—father, mother, sons and son-in-law—pride themselves in doing, from the estimate to the installation. They use the best of materials (including the complete line of Harvey windows and doors from Woburn), and they use their 25 years in the business to make sure that you, the customer, get everything you deserve—and that little extra.

Bill Poulopoulos, Erich Brouady and Tom Georges of King's Subs

King's Subs: Sorry 'Bout that Picture, but...

Okay, so it's a lousy picture.

But, see, it's not easy to take a picture at King's.

For one thing, you have to make everybody stand still at once. They're not used to that. King's Subs is a busy place. Owners Tom and John Georges believe in getting those subs and pizzas and meals out fast, while they're hot. They and their staff are always zipping that food out, double-quick, from the kitchen to the counter. You know what they say about "shooting" a moving target.

For another thing, the staff at King's have their priorities. They feel that its the customer who's important. And the food. Not pictures. That's why they're not standing there with big grins on their faces; they're thinking about the guy who's walking in the door. Hoping the photographer will go away so they can get down to the real business at hand.

That, there's the food itself. It takes time and TLC to make more than 40 different kinds of sandwiches, 12 varieties of pizza (not counting the combos you invent yourself) and scores of delicious Greek specialties: salads, charcoal-broiled shish-kabob, meat or spinach pies, baklava that melts in your mouth. And the seafood plates. Fried Scrod. Pasta. You get the idea. When you're in charge of a menu like that, how do you find time to pose for a picture?

Don't get the wrong impression. The staff at King's is a friendly, courteous group of folks. Really good people. They serve you well. They listen carefully. They even smile for taking care of customers (or taking care of business) in general, they've got all the time and interest in the world.

But not for pictures, because that's not what they're there for.

So bring your appetite to King's. Bring your appreciation of good food. Bring your rush order, even of you order for pizza for the gang.

Just don't bring your camera.

King's Subs, 11 Bartlett St., Open 11-9 7 days per week. For outrageously enormous orders or supersonic service, call first at 470-1850.

pen for 10 years"—but that she felt it important that residents get an early hold on the issue.

Rep. Tucker discussed a number of issues under consideration by the state legislature. She said that she will keep watch and report on proposed and pending legislation on surtax repeal, closure—proposed means of settling of municipal department labor disputes in lieu of binding arbitration, which was repealed when Proposition 2½ came into effect—pension reform and pooled insurance for municipalities.

Also discussed were:

• Municipal access cable T.V.: Selectmen agreed to "find" money to fund televising of board meetings for the rest of this fiscal year. For next year, they will attempt to build the item into the budget.

• Field house: Emphasizing that they are going through the capital budget review process, and therefore entertaining possibilities rather than certainties, the selectmen suggested that a fieldhouse for athletics—including such amenities as a pool and an indoor track—might be in the proposal stage.

• Shuttle bus: The board voted unanimously to support the concept of a shuttle bus, proposed by town manager Kenneth Mahony. At an approximate cost of $10,000 to the town over seven months, the proposed bus would link Ballardvale, Shawsheen Square and the Phillips Academy area with Andover's business district.

• Parking fines: Selectmen approved a dual schedule of parking fines. Schedule A offenses, punishable by a $5 fine, would include overtime parking. Schedule B offenses, carrying what town manager Mahony indicated was the maximum fine allowed by law—$15—would include parking in fire lanes, handicap spaces, at hydrants, in snow-removal lanes and double parking.

the possibility of the cable television program at Andover High School assist the technical school by making an informational documentary about what the school has to offer the students considering the school.

"There are students in Andover who leave the podium with a $50,000 sheepskin in their hands and are unemployed or under-employed," Supt. Kenneth Seifert said. " Apptitude testing, in the junior high, could be a step forward to solving this problem. If students could understand early on what capabilities they have, maybe they would want to be a machinist or electrician and would not have to wait until 35 or 40 to find out."

With Thanksgiving almost come and gone, Christmas is coming, and goodness knows we all need a little extra money during the holidays. So I sell my unused and unwanted items in classified. It's a great way to find my Santa a special gift. My goodness, it just makes sense to use classified for buying and selling.

TOWN OF ANDOVER

BOARD OF HEALTH

The Board of Health Town of Andover, Massachusetts acting in accordance with, and under the authority granted by M.G.L. Chapter 111, Section 31, 31C and M.G.L. Chapter 111, Sections 122, 123, 124, 125, 143, 144, 145, 146 and 147 hereby adopted the following rules and regulations at a regularly scheduled, duly posted meeting of the Board held on October 21, 1985. These regulations shall take effect forthwith upon publication.

Rules and Regulations Governing Abrasive Blasting Paint Removal Processes within the Town of Andover.

AUTHORITY

The following rules and regulations pertaining to abrasive blasting paint removal techniques and processes are adopted in accordance with the provisions of M.G.L. Chapter 111, Section 31, 31C and M.G.L. Chapter 111, Sections 122, 123, 124, 125, 143, 144, 145, 146 and 147 for the purpose of protection of the public health.

PERMITS

A permit is hereby required for the removal of paint by abrasive blasting (sandblasting) from any interior or exterior surfaces of any structure within the Town of Andover. Such permit shall be issued by a duly appointed agent of the Board upon compliance by the applicant with the following terms, conditions and requirements of the Board:

1. The applicant shall make application for a permit in writing, on an approved form provided by the Board of Health agent.

2. Such application shall include a notarized lead paint test result for 1.2mg of lead content per cm^2 as certified by a testing laboratory approved by the Board of Health. In no case will permits be issued for wet or dry abrasive blasting of the interior or exterior surfaces of structures if the test results for lead indicated the presence of lead based paint in excess of 1.2mg/cm^2 on the subject surface.

3. Exterior blasting in the absence of lead is allowed only under the following conditions:

 A. Such blasting operations shall be sufficiently shrouded and ground covered with tarpaulin to contain particulate matter from entering the ambient air space, to prevent visible emissions beyond the vertically extended property line to prevent public exposure to particulates, and to prevent deposition of particulate matter upon public and other private property.

 B. There shall be no abrasive blasting whatsoever if the wind velocity exceeds ten (10) miles per hour.

 C. Enclosure(s) shall not be removed until all external surfaces, including the ground in the vicinity, are thoroughly cleaned by an industrial vacuum cleaner of all loose material attributable to the abrasive blasting operation. Recycling of abrasive material is prohibited and disposal should be in accordance with 310 CMR 19.000.

4. Interior blasting in the absence of lead paint is allowed only under the following conditions:

 A. All doors, windows, or any openings to the ambient air space must be sealed and/or shrouded to prevent particulates from entering the ambient air space, to prevent visible emissions beyond the vertically extended property line, to prevent public exposure to particulates, and to prevent deposition of particulates, matter upon public and other private property.

 B. All doors, joints, cracks and other openings adjacent to occupied offices or apartments shall be corked or otherwise sealed to prevent dust from entering said areas.

 C. All openings to the ambient air space must remain sealed and/or shrouded during clean-up of abrasive and abraded materials and use of a covered chute with water spray must be used if said materials are deposited from the building to a receptacle below to prevent particulates from entering the ambient air space.

5. The permit shall be displayed in a conspicuous location during the abrasive blasting operation. The permittee shall notify the Board of Health of the starting date of abrasive blasting operation and immediately notify the Board of Health in the event of a break in technique or site accident.

6. There shall be a complete clean-up of all removed paint, dust particles and/or abrasive materials within two (2) hours of operation shut down every day.

7. Variance - The Board of Health, upon its own initiative or upon application to it by any person, after due notice and public hearing, may vary any provision of these regulations as it may deem necessary with respect to any particular case when, in its opinion, the enforcement thereof would do manifest injustices or cause undue hardships, provided that the decision of the Board shall not conflict with the spirit of these regulations. The burden of proof of the manifest injustices or causes of hardship shall be the responsibility of the applicant.

8. Penalties - The permittee is responsible for compliance with all conditions and terms stated herein. Whoever violates this regulation shall be punished, for the first offense, by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and for subsequent offense, by a fine of not less than two hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars. For the purpose of this paragraph each day or part thereof of violation of this regulation, whether such violation be continuous or intermittent, shall be construed as a separate and succeeding offense. Any of the following conditions shall be prima facie evidence of violation of this regulation:

 Visible emission of particulate matter, beyond the vertically extended property line of the owner of the property on which abrasive blasting is permitted.

 Deposition of visible amounts of particulate matter upon public or other private property.

 Failure to obtain permit from the Board of Health to engage in an abrasive blasting operation.

9. Fee - The fee for each permit shall be $50.00.

though the woman was by that time blind and hard of hearing, she never lost her love of literature. Sometimes, Martha's brother, Stephen, was in the house; he made Mrs. Sharpe uneasy when he quietly corrected her pronunciation as she read. "He was a sort of town character, Steve," says Mrs. Sharpe with a smile. "He rather outshone Martha. She kept to herself." She adds, "I think she lived for the library, her mother and her brother."

Martha Byington's devotion to the library was well-known. According to the Andover TOWNSMAN article that announced her retirement in 1943, she never took a holiday or a sick day during her 30 years of service without arranging for a substitute at her own expense. She drew on the library at her house when the branch library couldn't fulfill a patron's needs; sometimes she spent her own money on books and magazines for public use.

Miss Byington retired from her job because she had reached the age of 70; retirement was mandatory. "She was perfectly capable of continuing," says Mrs. Sharpe, "But in those days, there was a law." She remained vigorous and active right up until her sudden death, at 77, from a stroke suffered after she had mowed the lawn at the big stone house.

Martha Day Byington's body lies at rest in a cemetery in East Hardwick, Vt. Her spirit lives on in Ballardvale—where it touched so many lives with its warmth, generosity and love of life and literature. On Monday, Nov. 11, the village will invoke her memory in that most fitting place—the spot where the library once stood. The only irony is that Martha Byington has outlived that building.

REALTOR

WHY BUY WHEN RENTING IS SO NICE?

We have often observed that ownership has so many advantages over renting. We still believe it, yet there are some who don't.

Take the case of the young family that has rented a new apartment. They are delighted because the rental includes a lot of amenities more than seen in customary rental units. In fact, many of these additional amenity costs are not even passed through to tenants. If it seems too good to be true, it probably is. The answer could be future condominium conversion.

The property owner may want to have all the luxury physical components in place today for conversion and sale of units some time in the future. When? Only the owner knows - but there is the possibility that, as a renter, you may be left in limbo when the conversion date arrives.

On the other hand, if you BUY your own home or condo unit, you'll never have to worry about looking for another place to live. The decision and timing will be yours and yours alone.

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

By Robert Bryan
Realty U.S.A.
Schruender Real Estate

THE "FOR SALE SIGN"

When our agents meet with clients to discuss marketing their home, some clients resist the idea of having a "For Sale" sign placed in the front yard. They don't want the neighbors to know they're moving, or they may be concerned that complete strangers will knock on the door to ask about the house. For the most part, however, the advantages of a sign far outweigh the possible disadvantages.

First, that sign will make our phones ring. Many of our customers come from sign calls. We've also found that neighbors often sell a house for us, recommending their area to friends or colleagues who may be house hunting. If you want to sell quickly, letting the neighbors know is a good idea! Finally, almost all buyers will contact the realtor directly to make an appointment to see a house that interests them.

Having a "For Sale" sign in front of your house is not an absolute necessity, and most agents will not insist that you have one, but it will increase the property's exposure and make it sell more quickly. For more advice on marketing your home, come to Realty USA, Schruender Real Estate. Stop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover or call and speak with one of our professionals at 685-5000.

Veterans Tribute Monday

On Veteran's Day, Monay, Nov. 11, the town of Andover will hold two memorial services. The first, at the Spring Grove Cemetary on Abbot Street, will take place at 11 a.m. It will feature opening remarks by John Doherty of Andover V.F.W. Post 2128, a eulogy by the Rev. Charles B. Mansfield of the Free Christian Church and the placement of memorial wreaths.

At an 11:30 ceremony to be held on Ballardvale Green, Brig. Gen. John Haggerty, U.S.Army, Ret., will present a eulogy for the Korean and Vietnam War veterans. Gen. Haggerty, a former Ballardvale resident who is now the associate director of the New England Regional Primate Research Center of Harvard Medical School, served as chief of the Medical Service Corps and Director of Resources Management for the Surgeon General during his Army career. He has also served as an instructor in the U.S. Army Baylor University Graduate Program in health care, and as Chief of Personnel, Medical Command in Europe. He was a troop commander during World War II in the European Theater. Upon his retirement, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, the highest peacetime award given for military service.

John Haggerty

As part of the Ballardvale ceremony, three plaques commemorating Andover residents who died in the world wars will be dedicated. In addition, the ceremony will include the dedication of a new flag pole to the memory of Martha Byington, the village's first librarian.

Participating in the Veterans Day ceremonies will be: the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Greater Lawrence Musicians' Union Band Local 372, the Andover High School Band, the Andover High School Choir, a musician from the Clan McPherson pipers and a representative of the Vietnam Veterans of Massachusetts. All townspeople—and especially area veterans, their families, and the families and friends of those whose names are inscribed on the commemorative plaques to be dedicated—are invited to attend.

Lightning Strikes Residence

Lightning struck a 2 Will-O- Way residence off Lovejoy Road at 10:04 p.m. during Tuesday evening's intense rain storm.

The lightning struck the section of the roof located just above the attic leaving a large hole in the home owned by Frank Sullivan.

"No fire resulted from the lightning strike, an ejector unit was used to remove the smoke in the attack area." Deputy Fire Chief Ernest Fluet told the TOWNSMAN.

No injuries were sustained by the Sullivan family who were in the house at the time.
